Intellectual and academic enquiry lie at the heart of a Stowe education and students are encouraged to excel in sport, art, drama and music.

Each boy and girl are treated as an individual in the firm belief that he or she has the potential for excellence. Through teaching of the highest calibre, Stoics are encouraged to think for themselves, challenge conventional orthodoxies and pursue their own enthusiasms. The majority of Stoics secure places at the most competitive Russell Group and Ivy League universities. This passion for bringing out the unique talents in each pupil lies at the heart of our educational philosophy, allowing Stoics to acquire the skills that enable them to live happily, work successfully and thrive in their future lives.
